WESTERN KANSAS

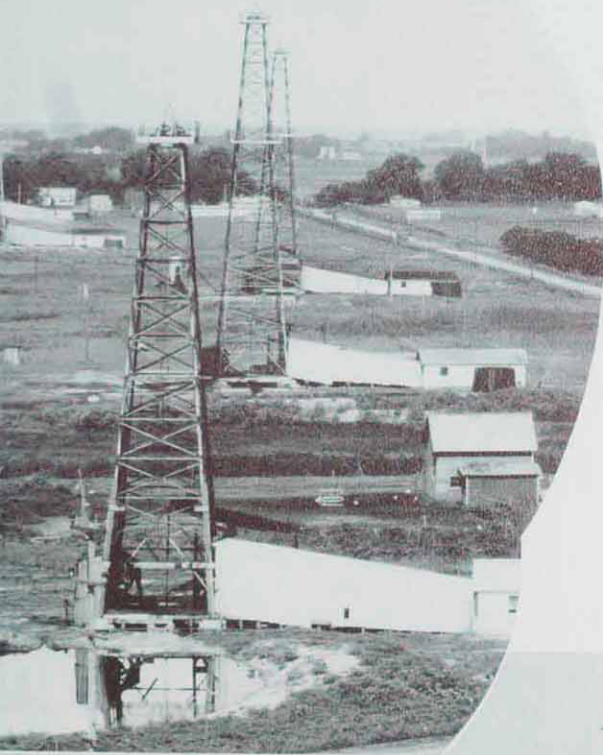

PRODUCTIVITY

Empire

Western Kansas cannot boast of rugged mountains, natural lakes, swift rivers, or beautiful harbors. In true beauty, however, Western Kansas is second to none. Waving wheat fields, herds of cattle, and now tall oil derricks make up the Great Empire of Western Kansas.

In the last few years weather cycles have dimmed the beauty of our country. Drouth, following by crop failures and raging dust storms have caused many to forget the Western Kansas of Productivity.

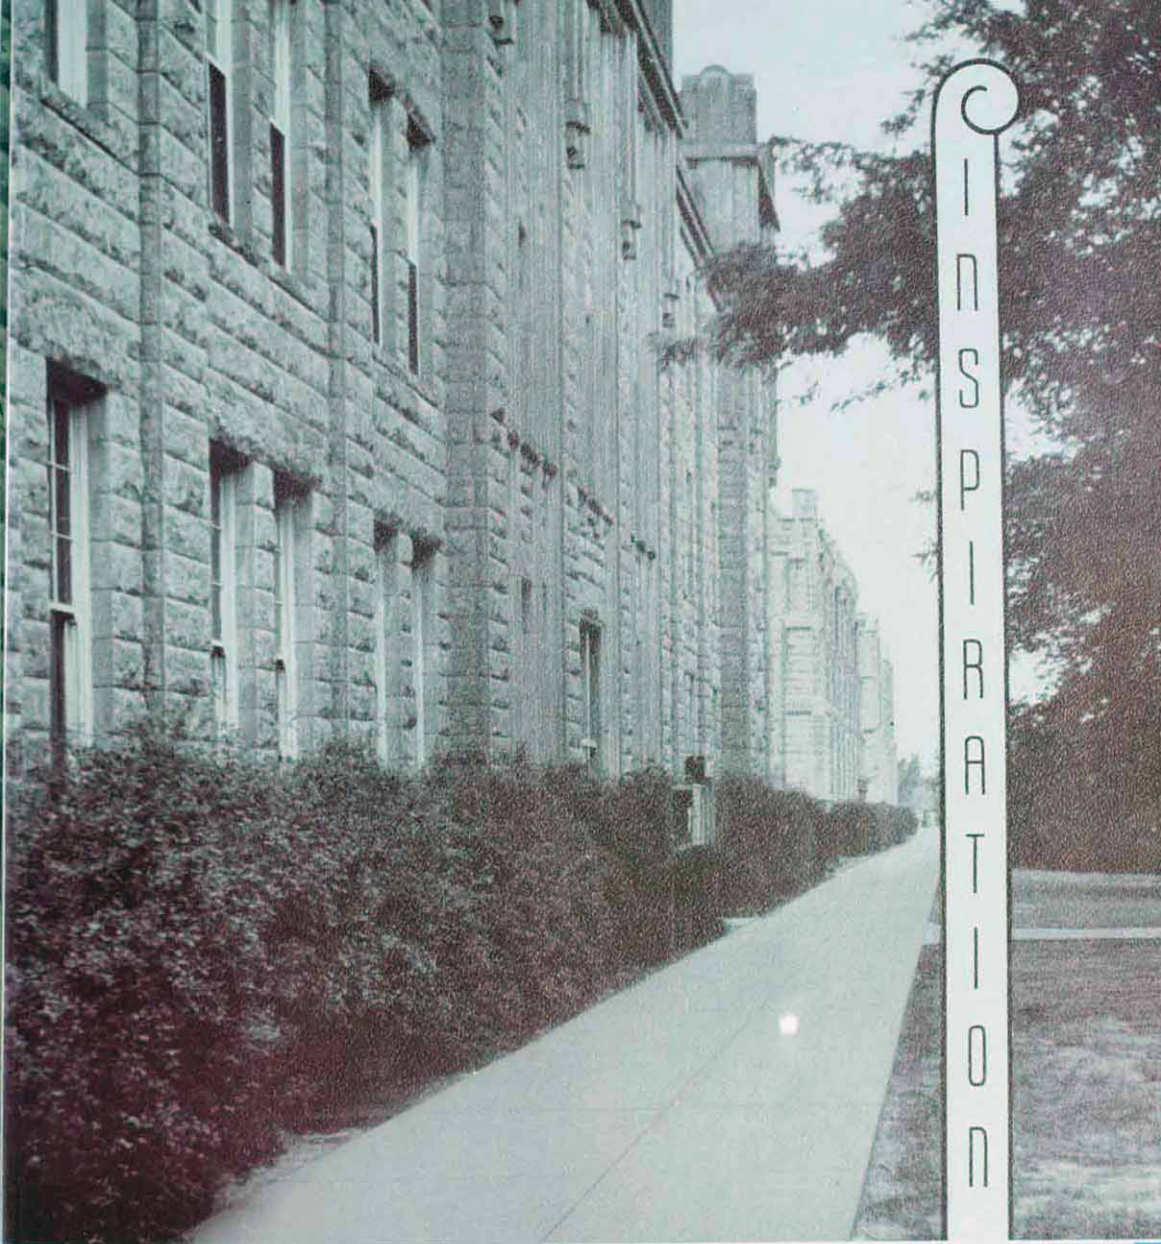

In spite of the privations caused by drouth the people of Western Kansas have refused to forsake their belief that the Great Empire will return again. We are assured by the fact that no industrial strikes plague our industry; no race question warps our judgment; and no Tammany Hall infests our government.

The spirit of the West still lives in the hearts of Western People. They believe that this year or next year will see the return of prosperity to this country. Like their forefathers who refused to accept defeat from the Indians they refuse to be defeated by the elements of nature.

Dedication

Dr. William D. Moreland exemplifies the true spirit of the West. His fearless manner and irresistible enthusiasm are recognized by every Fort Hays student. His foresight was largely responsible for the Lewis Field project and it is his supervision that keeps it a growing enterprise. These traits have won him the admiration of the student body and the community of Hays. To William D. Moreland, as the man he is and to the spirit he represents, we dedicate the 1938 Reveille.

To the 1938 Reveille Staff
Fort Hays Kansas State College

My dear friends:--

You recall that after Zebulon Montgomery Pike of New Jersey visited western Kansas in 1806, he wrote President Jefferson that white people could never live there and trees never could grow there. But if he could return today and see the lovely shade trees on your beautiful campus and observe how the scientific leadership of Fort Hays Kansas State College is building a great agriculture and supporting cities and farms in what he thought was a worthless area, I am sure that the well-meaning Pike would rebuke modern eastern writers, who, after a hasty visit to the Plains, take snap judgment and write their views for eastern readers without taking time to see the scientific wonders that are being accomplished.

We regret that too few of our nationally-famed writers spend so little time in tracing the history of the rise of mankind. If they would but study, they could learn that human progress first began to glow like a tiny spark in the night among the people of the Gobi Desert. They could learn that the spark brightened into flame in arid Mesopotamia, in the sands of Egypt, in drouthy Carthage.

It was not in spite of climate but because of climate that men of great physical and mental vitality live in regions of bright sunshine, constantly changing temperatures and strong breezes. It was these very factors -- dry air, cool nights, bracing winter winds, sunshiny days, warm summers with little humidity -- that stimulated the Egyptians to discover trigonometry, the Arabs chemistry, the Mesopotamians algebra, the Carthaginians navigation by the stars and sun, and the Aztecs and Incas the highest civilization in pre-Columbian America.

Similar conditions point to Fort Hays as the natural capital of scientific progress of the present works. Congratulations to you.

Yours,

Bliss Isely

From a Native Son

Bliss Isely speaks authentically of the Sunflower State, its people, its climate, and its institutions. His book "Four Centuries in Kansas" has won him national fame. The 1938 Reveille is proud to present Mr. Isely's view of the inspiration of our school.

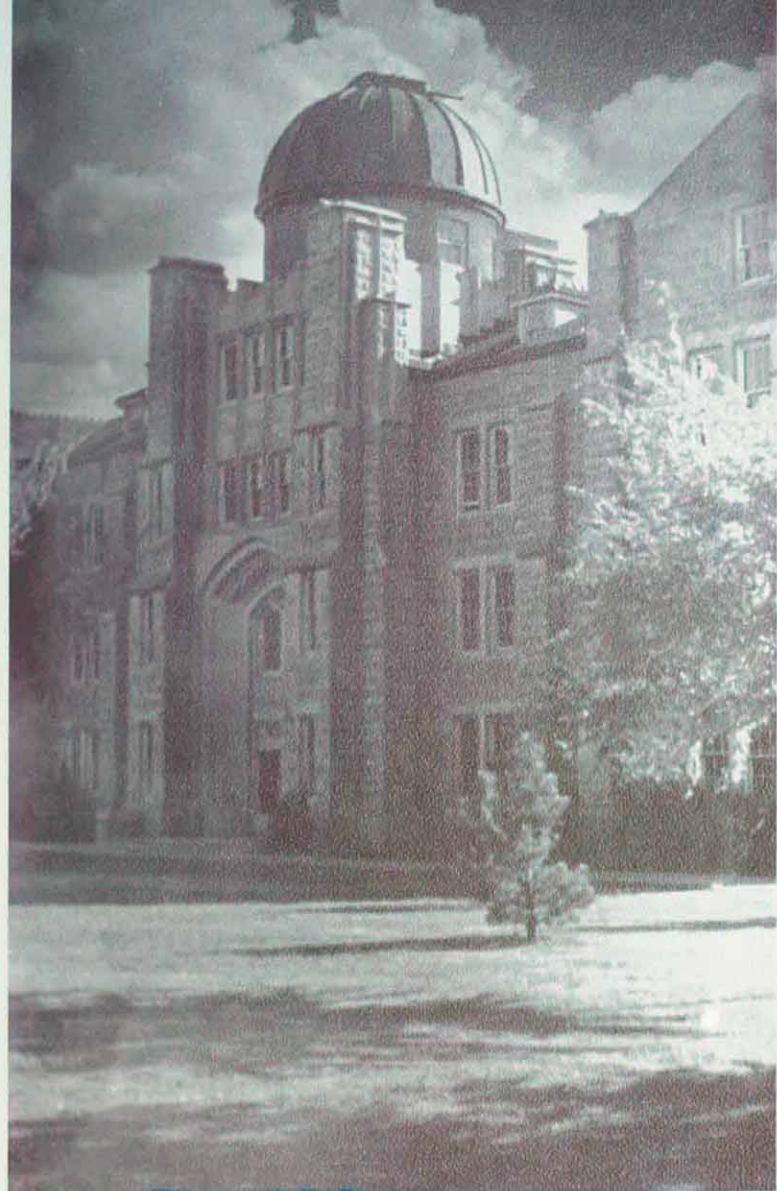

DR. C. E. RARICK

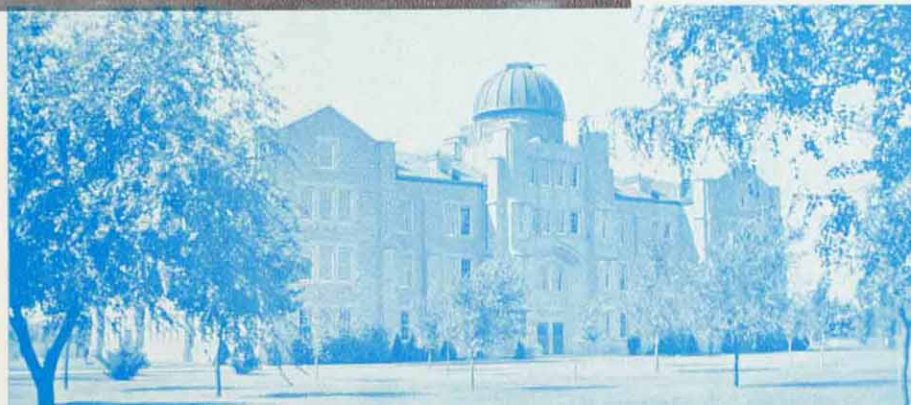

As a man, Dr. Rarick exhibits a kindly courtesy and a genteel sense of humor. As president, he exercises his quiet, efficient executive powers. As combination of both man and president, he is an intelligent, devoted individual, guiding us to further enrichments.

STAGHOUSE

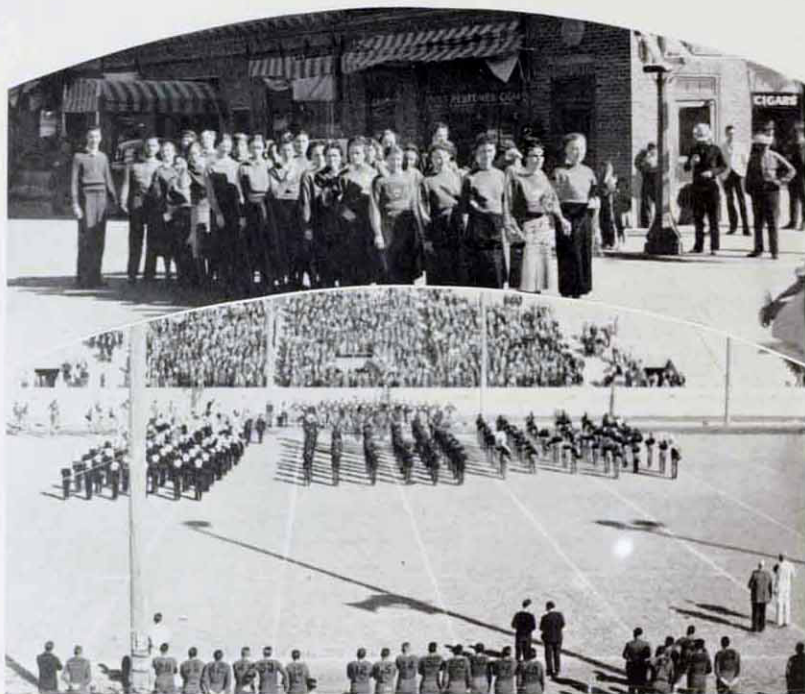

The bonfire pow-wow with throbbing snake-dances to the accompaniment of the black and gold music makers sends a thrill to the heart of each Fort Hays loyalist. The leaping flames illuminate the enthusiasm in the faces of the Tiger-followers.

With each movement of the gold-clothed, rabid cheerleaders, lusty cheers ring out on the crisp autumn air mingled with strains of "Go You Hays Tigers!"

Wild cries from ardent fans produce our Tiger athletes who offer mumbled speeches amidst noisy worship. At the conclusion of this ceremony, with school spirit at its height the crowd departs, firm in their belief of a near victory.

In the now deserted spot only the glowing ashes remain as if in promise of the great laurels to be reaped by the ones who had given them their life.

Thus is the eternal tradition of "pep" carried on in Fort Hays.

Go You Hays Tigers

The Fort Hays gridiron at Lewis Field and the basketball court in Sheridan Coliseum are the scenes of many thrilling battles. To the students of Fort Hays goes the credit for much of the success of Tiger athletic teams.

The whole school echoes with the familiar cry, "Yea Tigers Fight!" More than one highly regarded foe has met defeat at the hands of the united spirit of our Western Kansas Alma Mater.

These pictures of the two pep clubs and three bands in action on the field are indicative of the type of things that makes Fort Hays a winning institution.

Fight right through that line.
With your colors flying
We will cheer you all the time.
Go you Hays Tigers
Fight for victory.
Spread far the fame
Of our fair name
Go Hays Tigers
Win this game.

Here Comes the Band

Nothing adds inspiration to an occasion like the sparkling music of a good band. In the matter of bands Fort Hays asks no favor of any school in this section of the country. Under the direction of Virgil V. Edmonds the college band has reached heights far exceeding any band ever to wear the colors of the gold and black.

The military drum major of the band is Robert Helman, a junior from Norton. Capably skilled in the art of music, Bob has imparted into the band some of the characteristic fire that has made him a campus personality. Mr. Edmonds himself is one of the truly enthusiastic supporters of Fort Hays.

With one hundred and thirty members attired in striking military uniforms the band can be counted upon to be present whenever Fort Hays is represented with the best in music plus the spirit of marching rhythm.

A Capella Choir

In the second year of its organization, the A Capella Choir of Fort Hays State, has taken its place among the organizations on the campus. Directed by Paul Beckhelm, the mixed choir presented many programs. It has been very versatile in its activities taking part in the Commencement Programs, assisting in the program for religious week, and being the first choir to appear between halves of a basketball game. It presented a group of semi-popular numbers between periods of the Hays-Southwestern game.

Instead of giving a regular home concert, the A Capella Choir presented a program for the music festival.

Trips were scheduled to several different towns; the main one was a two day trip in which concerts were given in eight different towns. In Dodge City the group broadcast a portion of their program over the radio station there.

The choir also took part in the Memorial services for Mr. Malloy who for many years has been head of the music department here.

Because of the illness of Carl Malmberg, director, the orchestra did not make as many appearances as in previous years. It did, however, give a concert in the fall to the college students, made a trip in December, played in the Festival and Commencement exercises.

The concert chair was taken by Konrad Scholl of Ohio University, who is finishing his school here.

Women's Glee Club

The Women's Glee Club took part in several activities this year. Some of the programs in which they appeared were: The McDowell Tea, The Music Festival, and a dance program. The Glee Club is directed by Miss Lucille Felten.

The Women's Quartette made numerous appearances in Hays and also in other towns. The Quartette members are: Mildred King, Juanita Thompson, Lou Verne Williams, and Winnie Adams.

The members of the Glee Club are: Winnie Adams, Margaret Bartholomew, Doris Brakebill, Margaret Brown, Ilo Brumitt, Ruth Butler, Eleanor Calver, Esther Conard, Floy Richards, Wiladine Dillon, Lois Dowse, Julia Dragt, Zelma Jane Felten, Blanche Garlow, Alice Furthmeyer, Mildred George, Juanita Thompson, Clarice Haag, LoRee Hall, Ila Harshbarger, Leona Herman, Evelyn Stutzman, Dorothy Hunsicker, Hazel Oshant, Mildred King, Louise Kirk, Lorraine Kobler, Muriel Koontz, Eveleen Lebasck, Martha Blew Line, Lucille Love, Esther Major, Louise Marvin, Verda Myers, Lillian Patten, Margaret Paxton, Anne Reed, Alene Renner, Lillian Roper, Marie Sainer, Maude Scherer, Florine Schlegel, Frances Scranton, Elsie Mae Sire, Pearl Snowbarger, Darlenne Thompson, Betty Jean Walker, Dorothy Winter, Rita Wiesback, LouVerne Williams, Fern Wright, Marjorie Wyckoff, Becky York, Mary Zeller, Bonnie Zimmerman, Clara Mae Brown, Grace Piper, Grace Hartshorn, Evelyn Witt, Florence Ada Truan, Arthelia McKenna.

Men's Glee Club

Outstanding events of the Men's Glee Club were a three day tour of the northwestern part of Kansas, the annual Home Concert and the Music-Festival. The glee club, under the direction of Hobart S. Davis, also sang at several other programs during the year. The leading social activity was the spring formal.

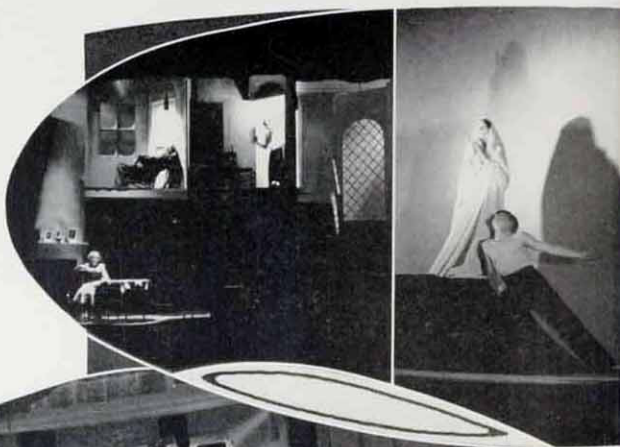

Max Hughes, pianist for the group, was an added attraction for the audiences. To counter balance the classic playing of Mr. Hughes was Van Shaw, pianist prankster, who gave readings and accompanied himself on the piano.

The Varsity Quartette was called upon to entertain before many different groups. Members of the quartette (from right to left) are Leland Flora, George Zeigler, Karl Carson, and Clinton Meyer.

Other members of the glee club are: Bruce Berndt, Maurice Blake, Clair Bondurant, Wilbur Brock, Leland Brown, Leon Clark, Duane Gamet, Eugene Gishwiler, Kenneth Heitschmidt, John Hemphill, Ivan Hill, Harold Hoersch, Donald Kaufman, Paul Kewley, Phillip Lauver, Warren McElroy, Marion Mathews, Helmer Miller, Allen Mitchem, Floyd Moore, Kenneth Moore, Rex Pearson, Melvin Robbins, Lewis Schafer, Eugene Schlegel, J. D. Sharp, Audrey Stinemetz, Philip Thomas, Robert Tichenor, Robert Yeaggy, Walter Gaumer, Glenn Carlson, Charles Lacey, John Butler, Maurice Albertson, William Lusk, Loyd Willison.

The Little Theatre Players of Ft. Hays State have been most successful in their presentations this year. This success is due to the ceaseless direction and efforts of Mr. Orvis Grout, the youthful but efficient director of the Little Theatre Group.

In the middle picture, "Judgment Day" descends when Lyman Wooster calls Cloyd Pugh onto the witness stand, while the other witnesses and spectators watch breathlessly. Izella and Scotty are being prosecuted for a crime of which they are innocent; Van Shaw, as the Bloody Tsankow, in a most realistic performance; Brooks Rickard adds plenty of clever bits in the form of badly timed jokes.

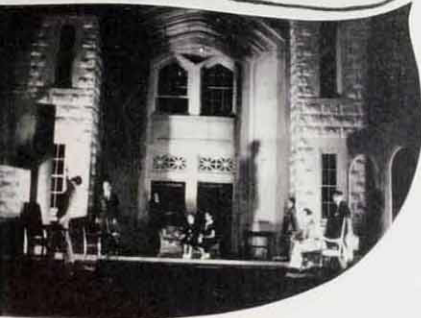

Below—Making up—it requires much skill to obtain the correct stage effects. For some it takes more than one to do the job right as witness the assistants. But the results appear to be worth the efforts.

Theatre

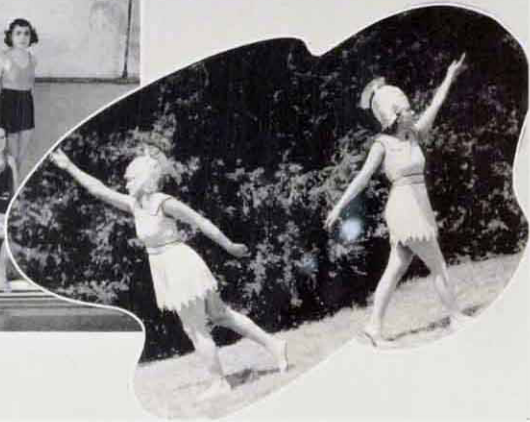

Your guess is as good as ours on that first picture—In the middle, the five dignified judges from "Judgment Day" hold counsel. Max Hughes as Count Slatarski, an old but honorable man, Ken Wells as the wise-cracking Colonel Jan Sturdza, Brooks Rickard as Professor Murusi, Lyman Wooster as Dr. Michael Vlora, and Van Shaw as Dr. Taankow, the bloody one.

Ft. Hays State students who have had the privilege of seeing the plays presented by the Little Theatre are agreed that the work of this group is one of the finest on the campus. Among the many successes of the Group may be added this year's selections, "State Door", "Dover Road" and "Bury the Dead".

The work is strenuous, and takes much time and practice but those who are in it are agreed in one thing and that is that they love it; that it is worth all the hours spent on it; that it is one grand expression of art. To those people we say, go even higher.

Women's Athletic Association

The Women's Athletic Association is the Fort Hays organization which sponsors all types of women's athletic participation and award honors.

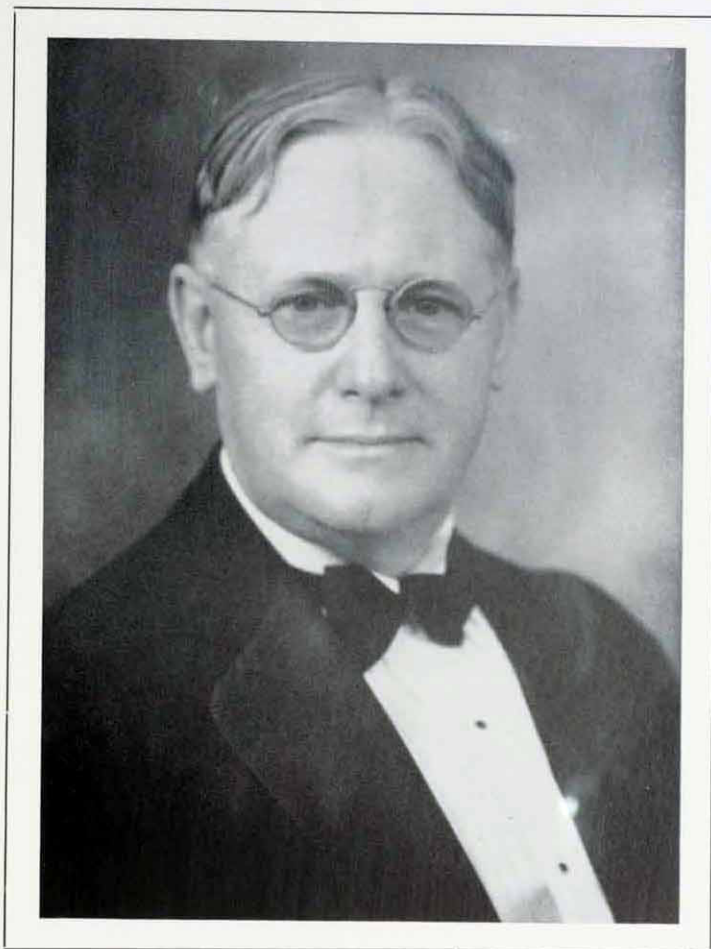

An outstanding feature was the annual Play Day on May 7 under the leadership of Ruth Cross, W. A. A. president. It was based on the idea of Walt Disney's animated cartoons.

W. A. A. entertained with an informal April Fool dinner dance at Cody Commons on April 1.

Duck Club is the swimming club for women. Under the direction of Ruth Cross, president, girls with enough swimming ability are initiated as "ducklings". With more training they become full fledged ducks.

An outstanding feature of the Music Festival Week during the spring of 1937 was the dance program under the direction of Miss Barbour. The program was presented by the women's physical education department with the assistance of the college orchestra.

FORT HAYS
KANSAS STATE COLLEGE

BY
C. E. RARICK, President
FORT HAYS, KANSAS
January 5, 1938

1938 Reveille Staff
Fort Hays Kansas State College
Hays, Kansas

Dear Friends:

Among the factors that influence the destiny of civilizations are those of soil and weather. Archeologists have recently made discoveries of buried civilizations that are evidences of the truth of this statement. They have found that such areas as the Sahara, Mesopotamia and the Gobi were once teeming with human life. Palays was once the metropolis of a great empire but now is almost hidden by the sands of the great Sahara. Modern peoples need to know that deserts are often time buried that where once civilizations had reveled in prosperity they now lie buried in the sands and debris of the intervening years, largely because of man's ignorance. If this generation is to do its part in promoting the welfare of the generations yet to be, its people will take into account the fact that man-induced desolation of lands in this area will result, as it has in the past, in producing deserts where once productive regions were found.

The Fort Hays Kansas State College, and other educational institutions of the great plains area are the "lighthouses" of its people. The predominate element in their philosophy is supremacy, not defeat. The real strength of this philosophy depends upon the innate qualities of the individual. Does the individual recognize that he has the responsibility for thinking through a problem? Can he do straight thinking concerning it? Has he "rugged individualism"? "Rugged individualism" involves not only the good sense to act wisely, but to act continuously and in the appropriate way for problem solution. Our commonwealth has many "rugged individualists". Evidence of this is that they care here, and that they abide here. The holding of the soil and the husbanding of the forces related thereto, to the well being of mankind, is a problem of major proportion. This will test to the fullest capacity the activities of the "rugged individualist". If man's ignorance and shortsightedness in the past produced deserts, then intelligent activities in the future may prevent them.

I congratulate your staff on the fine theme that you have in this year's publication and wish you great success in it. You are attacking a problem that is fundamental not only to the security and welfare of this generation, but of future generations as well.

Sincerely yours,

C. E. Rarick
President

A "Rugged Individualist" himself, Dr. Rarick presents his attitude toward the people of our section. His administration and his personal life reflect the principles outlined above. Reflection upon this letter indicates the type of men that have made the West.

Men and Women

OF THE WEST

No college, regardless of its fine buildings or modern equipment, can rise higher than the men and women who make up the institution. The students of Fort Hays carry on the traditions of the West. In their dealings with each other they maintain the friendly courtesousness for which this country is famous. At the same time the "Rugged Individualism" of the Western people is not forsaken by the students of Fort Hays.

Into the college come men and women from all walks of life. From the college will go the people who will comprise the leadership of our commonwealth in the future. The training received here will enable our students to stand the test of "Twentieth Century" civilization. College duties will discipline them to meet the tasks of everyday living.

In this section of the Reville appear pictures of the men and women of our school. For the graduating seniors we pay our homage and include an individual writeup of their accomplishments. For the great majority, who make up our student body, may these pictures bring to memory in the years to come the beautiful friendships of our college days.

Paul Waldorf, head football coach, led the Tigers for the second year. In his first year at Hays, Paul coached the Tigers to an undefeated Central Conference Championship. This year, he made the Tigers championship contenders until the final game of the season, when they met defeat at the hands of a powerful Wichita University team. Paul is a graduate of Baker University, where he was an all-conference halfback. Before coming to Hays, he coached at the Wentworth Military Academy in Lexington, Mo., and at the McKendree College at Lebanon, Ill.

Brains and Brawn Behind

James

For the first time in four years, the Tigers dropped from the championship position in the Central Conference football race. After winning the first two conference games, the Tigers dropped two close ones to Emporia State and Wichita University, ending the season in third place in the conference standings. These two conference games proved to be the only losses for Tigers during the season, as they won all their non-conference tilts except one, a 7-7 tie with St. Benedict's. They opened the season with a 20-7 victory over Alva Teachers, and followed with a 7-0 victory over Chadron Teachers. In the first conference game, with Southwestern, the Tigers clicked beautifully, trouncing the Builders 28-0.

Following the Southwestern victory, the Tigers won a tight battle over Weatherford Teachers 12-7 on a rain soaked field. In their second conference start, the Tigers won a thrilling homecoming battle, 13-6, from the Pittsburg Gorillas. Disaster struck the Tigers in the next conference game and they lost 14-6 to an inspired Emporia State team. The next week, the Tigers came from behind to tie the powerful St. Benedict's Ravens 7-7. They met unexpectedly strong opposition from College of Emporia the following week, but nosed out the Presbyterians, 7-3. The Tigers with two wins and one loss in conference play, had a chance to throw the conference into a three way tie with a victory over the undefeated Wichita University team. They caught the Shockers on a hot day, however, and lost 13-0, thus falling to third place in the conference standings.

Four seniors were particularly outstanding in Tiger victories. Rudolph Skubal, co-captain and all-conference tackle last year, played hard, steady ball during the entire season. Although he barely missed all-conference this year, "Skube" was rated by the opposition as one of the toughest tackles in the conference. He is a four letterman and hails from Jennings, where he was an outstanding high school athlete.

Chet Mitchell, a senior from Montezuma, has gained the distinction of being Fort Hays State's greatest all-time all-around athlete. This year, he was chosen all-conference tackle, has twice been picked on the all-conference basketball team, and is a letterman in track. Chet, who is 6' 4" in height, and weighs 210 pounds, has lettered three years in football and has been outstanding for his smashing defensive play.

Herb Bender, co-captain and twice all-conference fullback, has been the backbone of the Tiger attack for several years. He is famed not only for his line-smashing, but also for his powerful defensive play. Herb, a senior and four letterman, hails from Luray. He is rated by many the hardest hitting fullback ever to represent Fort Hays State.

Jim Sampson, all-conference end, was one of the greatest reasons that the Tiger's opposition averaged only six points per game. Few teams were able to get Jim off his feet and many plays around his end were stopped at the line of scrimmage. In addition to his defensive ability, Sampson's educated toe converted eight consecutive extra points from placement, before he missed. He made good eleven out of fifteen for the season.

Bill Bearley, assistant football and head track coach, has contributed much to the famous fighting spirit of the Tigers. Bearley, who coaches the backfield, is a graduate of Fort Hays State, and was a star fullback in the early 1930's. After graduation, he coached at Liberal High School. In 1935, he returned to his Alma Mater to coach and teach physical education.

Garnold Schneider, a senior from Natoma, received his second letter at a guard position.

Claude Bice, a sophomore from Hays, received his first letter this year, at a halfback position.

Ward Riegel, a junior, was the outstanding ground-gainer for the Tigers. Riegel, who was chosen as all-conference halfback last year, is probably the fastest back in the Central Conference, and is expected to flash his stuff again next year.

Harold Randall, a senior from Jennings, was one of the few four-lettermen on the team. Randall, who has been hampered by injuries for the past two years, has been outstanding at guard position for several years.

Paul Stenger, a junior from Hays, has earned three letters at halfback position. Paul is fast, shifty and a good kicker.

"Tobe" Hunley, a sophomore and two letterman from St. John, has been outstanding for his blocking and vicious tackling. Hunley played regular Jay Boyer, a junior from Colby, has earned two letters at end position. He played right end on this year's team.

Audrey Steinmetz, a freshman from Byers, earned his letter this year as substitute for Skubal at tackle.

James Kennedy, a freshman from Esbon, earned his initial letter this year at center position.

Howard Waddell, a senior from Winchester, earned his initial letter at guard position. Although a senior, Waddell has another year of competition, and is expected back next fall.

Willard Elder, a sophomore from Cedar, earned his second letter at guard position.

Howard Stehwein, a junior from Claflin and co-captain for next year, has earned three letters at center position.

Hugo Pfortmiller, a senior from Natoma, has earned three letters at guard position.

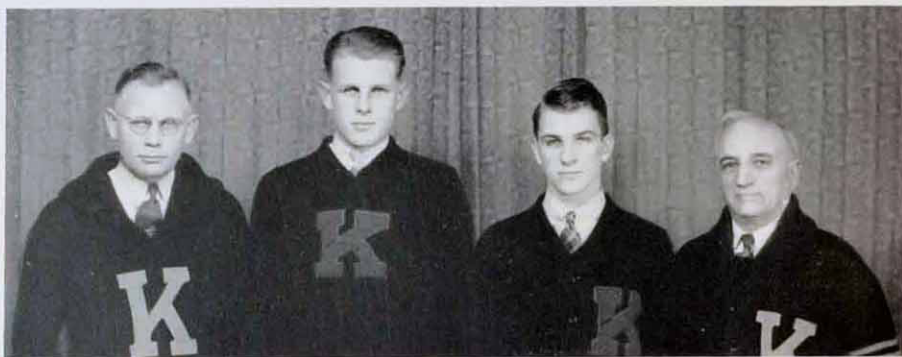

Tom Mosier, a junior from Hoxie, the "utility man" of the squad, earned his third letter playing guard and end.

John Renner, a freshman from Oakley, showed considerable promise at guard, earning his initial letter at that position.

Oscar Mitchell, a junior from Montezuma, earned his initial letter at end position, acting as substitute for Jim Sampson.

Tom Pivonka, a junior from LaCrosse, earned his second letter at tackle position, and is expected to play regular tackle next fall.

Ernie Staab, a sophomore from Hays, was the outstanding triple threat back of the squad. Acting as substitute for Elder at fullback, Staab proved his ability to kick, pass and run.

Two Generations of K-Men

The year 1937-1938 marked the beginning of another story of Tiger heroes. Two valiant Fort Hays gridsters earned their K to become the first sons of K men.

Dr. Bice was a Hays athlete in the years 1905 to 1909. After his playing days were over Dr. Bice returned to Hays and in two seasons served as coach of the Tiger eleven. For many years he has been a constant booster and supporter of Hays teams.

Dr. F. W. Albertson was an end in 1913-1914. During this time "Freddy" Albertson won fame as a hard fighting loyal athlete. Today he is a member of the faculty who is in whole-hearted support of the athletic department.

The two second generation men are Claude Bice and Maurice Alberston. Claude, son of Dr. Bice, is a graduate of Hays High School and this year, as a sophomore, won his letter as a half-back. Maurice, son of Dr. Albertson, is also a Hays High alumnus. He lettered as an end.

Both of these boys are members of Sigma Tau Gamma fraternity. Both are prominent in campus life and activity. Maurice and Claude exemplify the same Tiger spirit as did their dads a generation ago.

From this start of two second generation men we can expect a long line to follow. It is only reasonable to believe that the names of many of our future heroes will be the same as those we cheered on to victory.

Walter Gaumer

In 1935 a blond haired freshman from Oberlin matriculated to Fort Hays. A high school athlete of great promise, he was expected to continue his success in college. In the spring of 1936 he suffered a toe injury in football practice. This turned into bone infection which was never cured.

For two years Walter Gaumer has been handicapped by this difficulty. During this whole period he wore the same friendly smile that made him a friend to all. This spring the doctors decided a leg amputation would be necessary to save his life. Even this failed to break his spirit.

The 1938 Reveille takes this opportunity to pay tribute to Walter Gaumer. Though severely handicapped his unquenchable spirit will lead him to success.

Close to the top in the matter of school spirit the K-Club can be depended upon to be behind any activity that will further the traditions and success of Fort Hays.

It is the K-Club that insists that freshmen come to athletic events and pep rallies. The K-Club puts the sting in the tradition of freshman caps. The K-Club reminds students forcibly to "Stay Off the Grass".

One of the banner days of the school year is the K-Club initiation. The pledges are put through all sorts of contortions which bring humiliation and humbleness to the unsuspecting initiates.

James Sampson is the president of the organization with Herb Bender vice-president and De-Loyd Mitchell, secretary-treasurer. Two honorary memberships to the club were granted this year. The first went to Tony Gross, for many years caretaker of the college buses. Walter Gaumer, suffering from loss of a leg due to an old football injury, was given the other membership.

Tigers Second in Cage Race

With the taste of last year's first Central Conference Basketball Championship fresh in their memory, the Fort Hays State Tigers began this season with a determination to win, not a tie as they gained last year, but undisputed claim to conference hoop honors. With a group of seven stalwart seniors, who served as a nucleus around which Coach "Busch" Gross built a formidable-appearing line-up, the Tigers seemed ready for a successful conquest of the C. I. C.

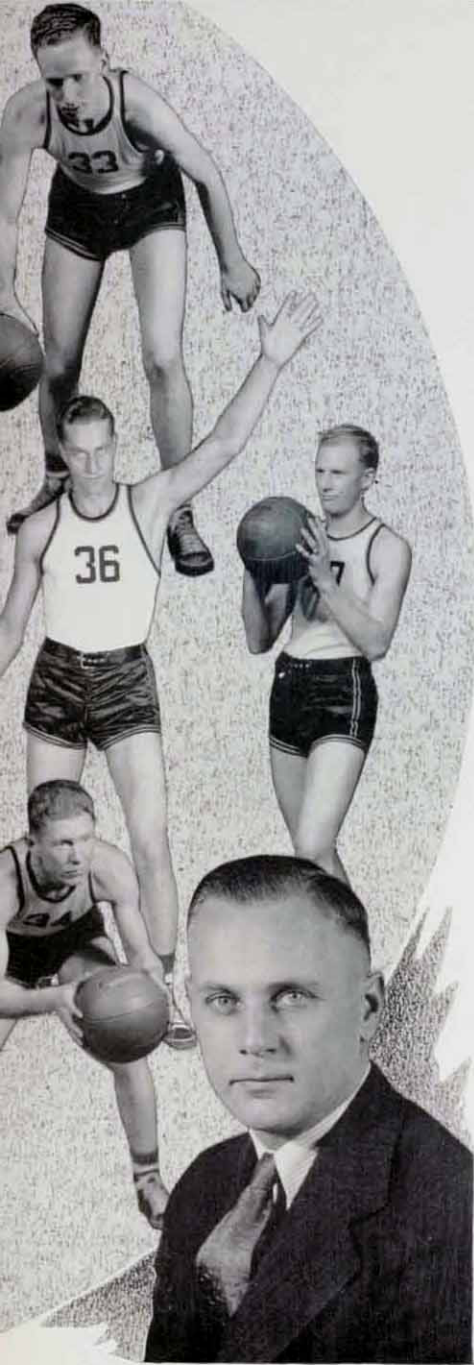

The Grossmen opened the cage season with a stirring 51-16 victory over Sterling College and followed with 57-37 and 37-27 victories over College of Emporia and Colorado College within the same week.

However, as the Tigers racked up non-conference victories, reports kept streaming in of even greater victories for the powerful Southwestern College quintet, which, early in the season was rated by experts as perhaps the outstanding team in this section of the country.

The Tigers opened the conference season impressively, winning a double-header from the Emporia State Hornets, 35-24 and 45-35. The following week, however, they met with an unexpected upset in Wichita, losing to the Shockers, 38-36 in an overtime period. With the damage already done, the Tigers came back with a vengeance in the second game and trounced the "Munies", 49-33. The Tigers trimmed McPherson College, 50-31, and again took to the road, nosing out an improved Emporia State club, 42-38, and then losing what proved to be the crucial game of the season to the classy Southwestern five, 40-28. Victories over the Pittsburg Teachers Gorillas and the Haskell Indians followed, the scores being 48-38 and 54-30, as the Tigers prepared to make their last stand against the undefeated Southwestern team in a two-game series in Sheridan Coliseum. The Moundbuilders appeared a little too powerful, however, and clinched the conference title by nosing out the Tigers in both games, 37-29 and 28-25.

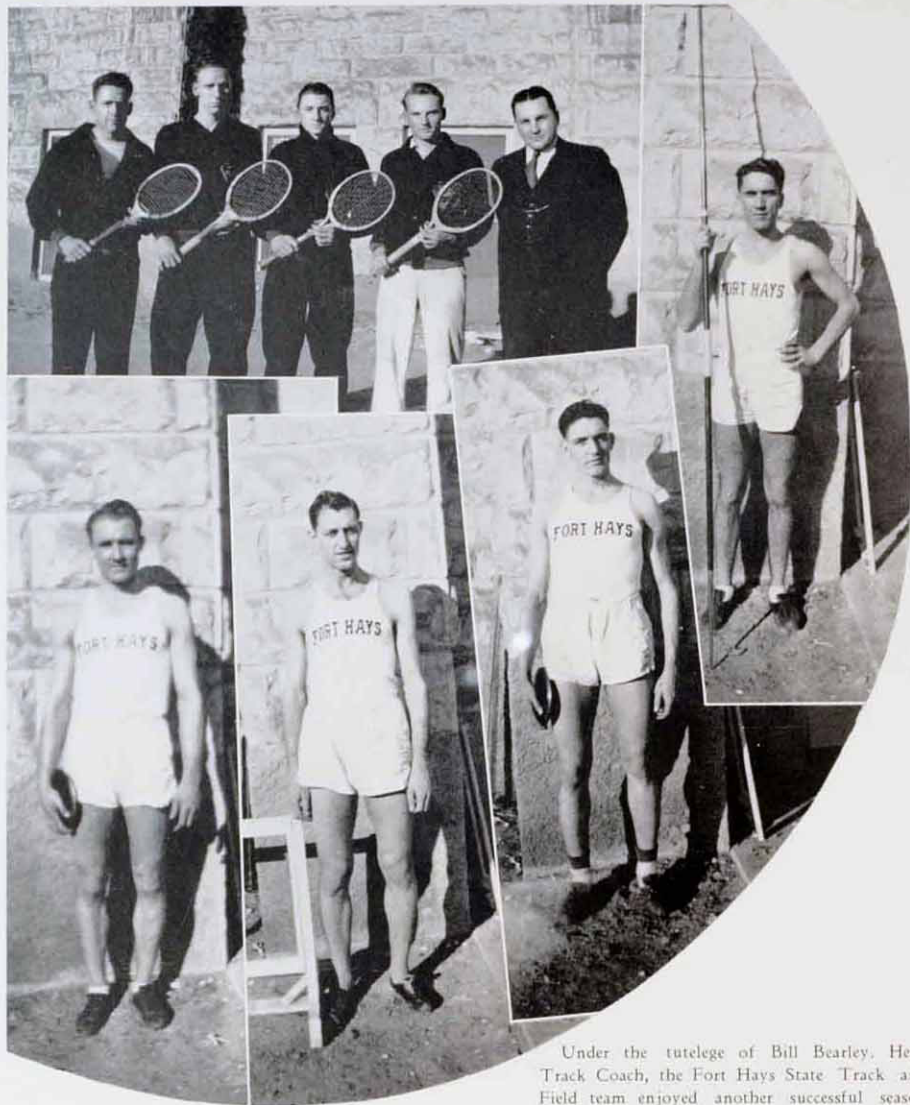

The following week, the Tigers clinched second place in the conference by trimming Wichita U., 33-26. The Tigers ended the season at Pittsburg, dropping the first game, 51-33, and winning the second, 48-45.

Chet Mitchell, senior from Montezuma, who captained the all-conference team at guard position, and Jack Johnson, sophomore from Levant, who was chosen at center on the all-conference team, were outstanding for the Tigers, while Art Leas, senior and veteran forward from Liberal; Ray Thurlow, senior guard from Hill City; and Arnold McGrath, senior forward from Hays; all played good ball throughout the season. Other lettermen include: Floyd Motley, senior guard from Garnett; Ralph Hinkle, senior forward from Abilene; Deloyd Mitchell, senior forward from Belpre; John Barkley, junior guard from Ransome; Ernie Staab, sophomore guard from Hays; Wayne Loomis, sophomore center from Mankato; Marion Robbins, sophomore guard from Norton; and Lawrence McPherson, freshman forward from Gem.

Last spring, tennis was again revived as a varsity sport. With many promising prospects, Coach Paul Waldorf arranged a good schedule which included Kansas State, Bethel, Dodge City Junior College, Garden City Junior College and the C. I. C. Meet. A varsity tournament was held to decide team members. The tournament was won by Jim Tharp, a junior from Ford, who defeated Arnold McGrath, a junior from Hays, in the finals. Other semi-finalists were Major Wickizer, a freshman from Hays, and Eugene Dirks, a freshman from Pawnee Rock. During the season, Tharp played No. 1 position, McGrath No. 2, Wickizer No. 3 and Dirks, No. 4. The seasons record included five team victories, one defeat and one split. With all team members back, an even better season is anticipated this year.

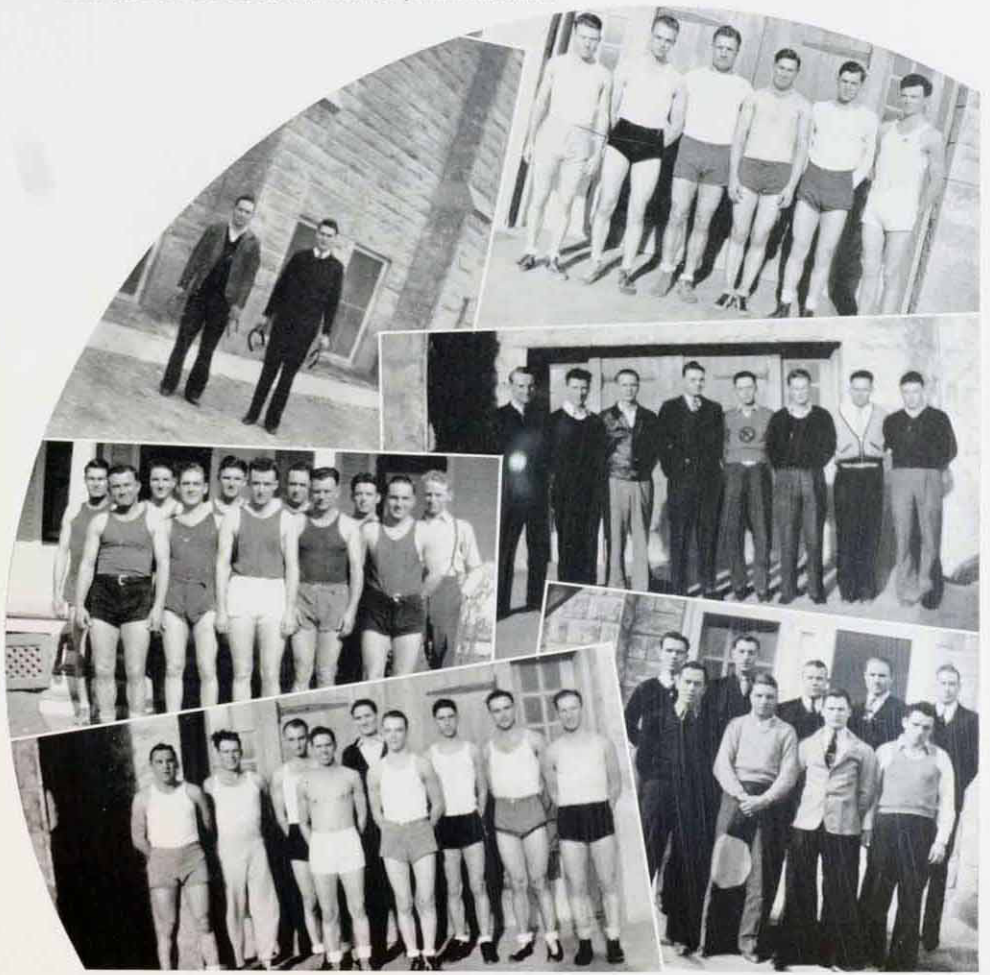

Under the tutelage of Bill Bearley, Head Track Coach, the Fort Hays State Track and Field team enjoyed another successful season last spring. With Floyd Stevens, star broad-jumper; Lawrence Pfortmiller, weight man; Hank Uppendahl and Burtis Taylor, outstanding hurdlers; Colvin Kindschi, javelin thrower; and Bill Reissig, John Michaels and Jerry Sharp, middle distance aces, the Tigers won honors in all the meets they attended. They finished third to Pittsburg Teachers and Emporia State in the Central Conference meet. Of the men mentioned above, only Stevens, Reissig and Michaels graduated last spring. Ward Riegel, sprint star, who was out last spring on account of sickness, is again in condition this spring, and should add considerable strength to the team. Due to uncertainty as to the completion of the Lewis Field cinder track, all the meets but one this spring will be away from home.

Intramurals

Intramural sports have year by year grown in the interest of the student body as a whole. The intramural program allows any student to compete who is enrolled in school and who is not competing in a varsity sport at that time, or has not earned a varsity letter in that sport. A large number of the students of Fort Hays State participate in various intramural sports which include: basketball, touch football, tennis, handball, volleyball, soft ball, horse-shoes, swimming, ping-pong and archery. An intramural program is carried on for both the men and women students. Considerable interest has been aroused on many occasions, even among spectators, concerning the close competition, particularly in the men's intramural sports.

The extensive men's intramural sports program is sponsored by Bill Bearley, Head Track Coach and instructor in Physical Education. Each year, Bearley chooses some outstanding student in the field of Physical Education to assist him in the administration of the program. This year, Bearley chose Charles Bacon, a junior from Hill City to aid him. The intramural contests are scheduled far in advance and that schedule is strictly adhered to.

The intramural teams are composed of various organizations on the campus. Chief among these organizations are the fraternities, who have taken a great interest in the program. In addition to the Greeks, many independent organizations furnish teams, chief among which are the Spanish Athletic Club and the Y. M. C. A. Group contests this year have been rather evenly divided. The touch-football championship went to the S. A. C., with the Phi Sigs, the Phi Mus and the Phi Deltas all tied for second place. The basketball crown went to the Phi Deltas, with the Phi Sigs close behind in second place and the S. A. C. in third place. The volleyball race, which has not been finished, seems to be dominated by the Phi Sigs, with the Sig Taus, the Phi Mu's and the Phi Deltas all possible contenders.

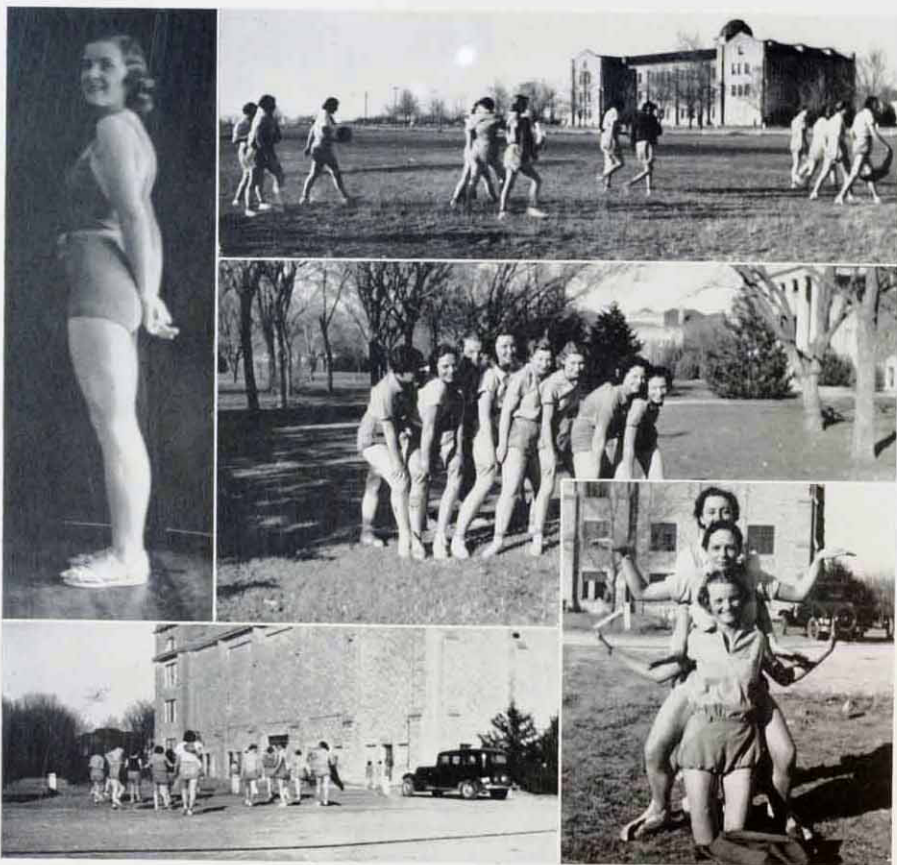

Women's Physical Education

GWEN DIMMITT

Miss Geneva Millet and Miss Alma Smith have charge of the women's physical education here at Ft. Hays, and the W. P. E. has several outstanding sport clubs. The largest is the W. A. A. (Women's Athletic Association). This group of girls have the privilege of earning a black and gold "K" by participating in intra-murals for girls in basketball, volley-ball or hockey.

The W. P. E. also has women who delight in dancing and for these there is the Orchesis, a dancing club for advanced girls, and the various Interpretative Dancing classes. These dancing girls have presented various programs throughout the year and each time have met with much success. The outstanding, perhaps, were the "Fire" and "Dust Storm" dances presented for the celebration of the 70th anniversary of the founding of Hays.

There are "Ducks and Ducklings" in W. P. E., but they're only those girls interested in swimming. One outstanding feature of the year in sports was the Duck Club party where Ducks and their boy friends quacked lustily.

The annual Play Day for high school girls was held on the Fort Hays campus on May 7. This was sponsored by the Women's Physical Education Department, and included all kinds of sports and contests for the school girls in this district.

There are five girls who have signed up their major in sports. These girls are: Jeraldine Nedrow, Margaret Reed, Bernice Hemphill, Kathryn Bellman, and Ruthe Cross.

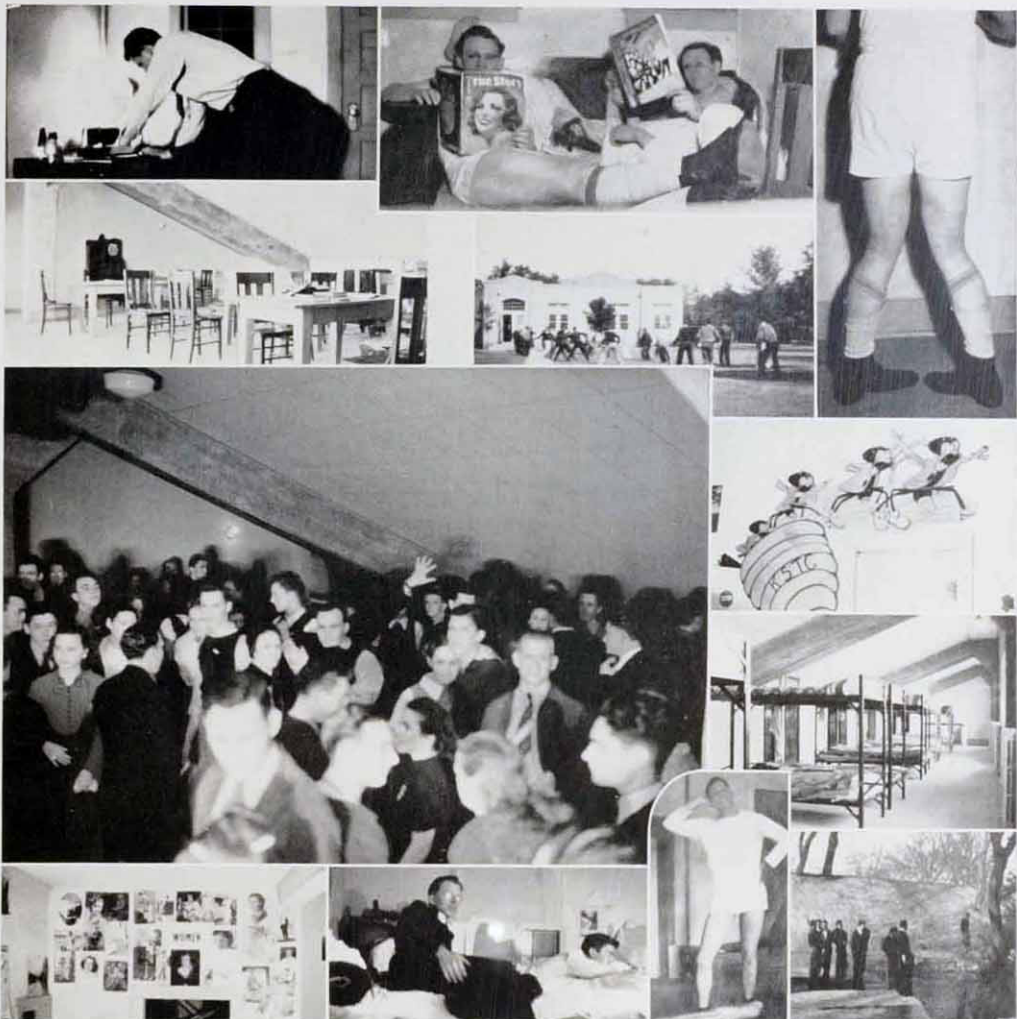

The daily pull . . . jolly, good fellows . . . when the cats away . . . intellect . . . campus art . . . boning . . . housing for the mighty . . . million dollar legs . . . playboys . . . the art of concentration . . . looks fishy.

Lewis Field

The year 1938 is a banner year for the Lewis Field housing project. Four years ago some one hundred young men moved into Camp Lewis in what was then a new and novel experiment. These boys were housed in two wooden barracks vacated by the CCC camp and commonly known as "60" and "40". Today the Lewis Field project is enabling two hundred young men to continue their education, an enterprise which would have been for most impossible without this program.

The four-year men at Lewis Field now become the first graduating class of the project. They have seen an untried experiment develop into a thriving undertaking. From wooden barracks lacking even the most crude of modern improvement a modern stadium seating 5,000 spectators and with modern housing facilities for seventyfive men, has been erected before their eyes. Moving into the barracks while plumbing facilities were yet to be completed they have seen each wooden building divided into cozy apartments with study rooms, lounging furniture and individual wardrobes.

This evolution has not been the work of one or two men. On the contrary it is the result of tireless effort and cooperation between school authorities and the men who make up the personnel of Lewis Field.

It was on a dark, cold night . . . improving the mind . . . cute, eh? . . . helping the Frosh along . . . a gala affair . . . quick, the flit . . . home, sweet home. . . interior decorating. . . Smith Ballet Company-adv. . . hunting poison ivy.

The idea of a stadium with living rooms was borrowed from the late Huey P. Long and his Louisiana State stadium at Baton Rouge, Louisiana. The money was contributed by the federal government in conjunction with our state government. WPA labor carved the native stone with which the building was constructed. The building was designed and supervised by R. U. Brooks, college architect.

Besides these men the name of Dr. W. D. Moreland and Dr. Rarick, both of whom fought continually for the project, are worthy of mention. Plus all the aforementioned, the Lewis Field men themselves have aided by their untiring willingness to endure any inconvenience in order that this idea be made into a workable institution.

The foundation has now been written. What remains is the fact that for years to come Fort Hays Kansas State College offers facilities for Western Kansas boys of moderate means to gain knowledge. Room in the project costs four dollars per month. All the men are fed at the college cafeteria at the rate of eleven dollars per month.

To the graduating seniors of Lewis Field, we salute you. You have paved the way by your efforts. Your service has resulted in an undying contribution to our Alma Mater.

CUSTER HALL

Over the bridge to Custer! A combination of radios, telephone calls, parlor visitors, typewriters, tempting odors from the kitchen, and happy voices in the halls all go to make the girls' dormitory a lively and interesting place to live.

Eighty-six girls reside at Custer Hall, just south of the Administration building. Their campus interests are extremely varied, yet they are united by a common loyalty to dormitory life. Mrs. Ethel McKenna, Mother Mac to the students at Fort Hays, has presided as house mother for eleven years and influences her large family with the charm and dignity of her personality.

Custer Hall has entertained this year with an Open House Tea, an informal dance, and a Spring formal. They have also had an annual Christmas party, and dinner. A new radio was purchased for the parlor. An additional gas stove and several new individual cupboards were installed in the kitchen.

Faye Garten was elected president the first semester. Grace Rose was vice-president; Frances Scranton, secretary; Margie Holland, treasurer; Lenora Coats, social chairman; and Verna Wendelin, historian.

Lenora Coats was elected president the second semester. Other officers were Margie Holland, vice-president; Geneva Schwindt, secretary; Mildred George, treasurer; Mary Zeller, social chairman; and Verna Wendelin, historian.

Custer Hall was granted by the state legislature in 1921. The total cost of the building and furnishings was $102,000. It is equipped with a water cooling system and tennis courts. The grounds are well kept and beautifully landscaped with trees and shrubbery.

Wesley Hall

A little work—a little play—friendship and fellowship galore. These help to make up the wholesome atmosphere prevalent among the group of college women enjoying dormitory life on Seventh street.

Fifty-four girls make their home at Wesley Hall. This dormitory is located in the First Methodist Church building, and is supervised by a board elected by the church. Although it is primarily a Methodist institution, women of many denominations reside at Wesley each year.

Mrs. W. H. Whorton is house mother at Wesley Hall. She has been in Hays for two years directing the activities of the dormitory and developing its homelike atmosphere. Her patience and understanding have endeared her to all the girls.

Wesley Hall-ites have formed an organization and hold house meetings at regular intervals. Mildred King was elected president of the dormitory for the first semester, and Merle Humphrey was president the second semester. Other officers, most of whom served for the entire year, were Dorothy Wilson, secretary; Florence Graf and Christina Bowen, treasurer; Roberta Martin and Amy Hildebrand, Pep Club representatives.

One of the most outstanding features of Wesley is the lovely, spacious parlor in which friends may be entertained at any time. Its attractive arrangement and numerous conveniences add to its general "homey-ness". Ruffles, Mrs. Whorton's dog, does her best to furnish excitement.

Wesley Hall has a number of social events each year. Besides parties for their own group, they have entertained boys at a picnic and a party in the Woman's building.

Dear Mr. Birrer:

It interests me greatly to note that you have given adequate space in the 1938 Reveille in which to show the various activities sponsored on the campus of Fort Hays Kansas State College. You know as well as I that these activities afford a satisfactory outlet for the physical, mental, and social aspirations of the students on our campus.

To be Resourceful, one must be fertile in devising ways and means of meeting varied situations. One of the prime aims of these organizations is to develop the capabilities of its members in such a way that, when the occasion arises, they will be the master. To this end all have proved successful.

Trusting that this training will prove valuable in post-college days, I remain,

A panorama of campus activities . . . given each week through the columns of the State College Leader. Business Manager Chester Mitchell was busy gaining achievement so Oscar Mitchell, his brother and assistant business manager, was in charge of the advertisements. His first job on the Fort Hays campus being in the print shop, the editor, Ralph Geist, spent much of his time as editor in "the backshop," working under the capable direction of Walter Wallerstedt, the college printer. An efficient staff and journalism classes assisted in the weekly publication.

The 1938 Reveille is presented by the staff as the result of their work throughout the school year in an attempt to bring to you a mirror of campus life in Fort Hays Kansas State College.

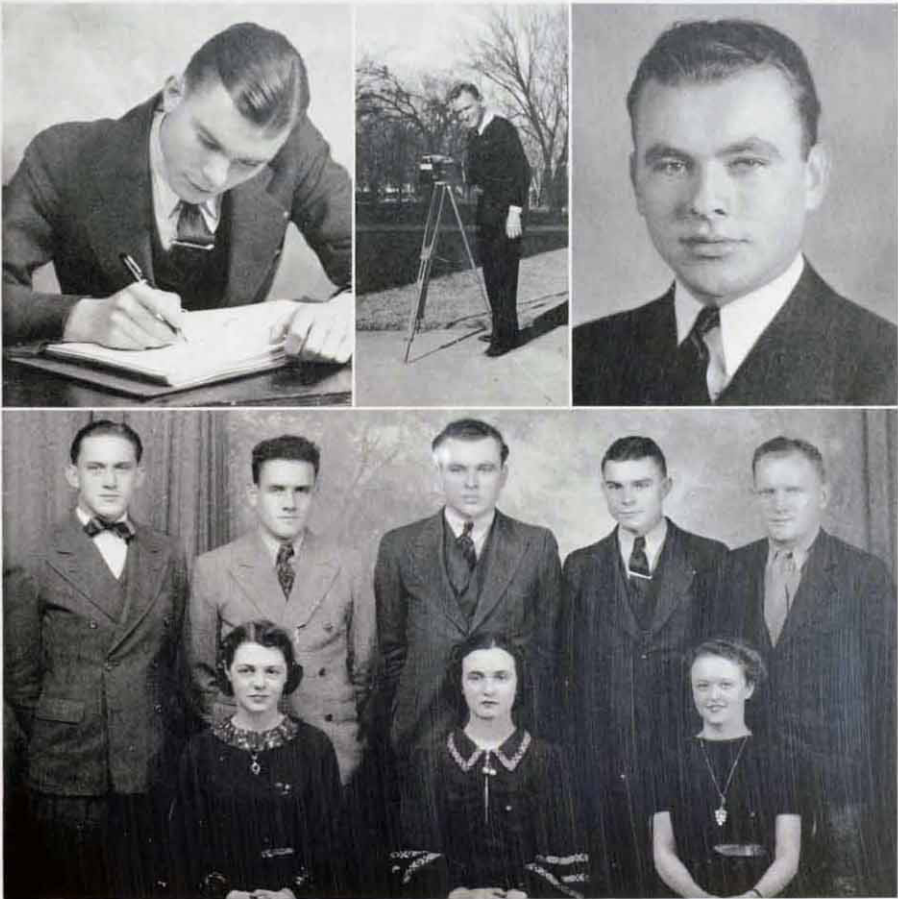

The book was managed for the second consecutive year by John Willcoxon who, though employed at the Hays Building and Loan Association, took time out to handle the finances. Ivan Birrer edited this edition of the Reveille capably assisted by Gwendolyn Dimmitt and Naomi Griffith.

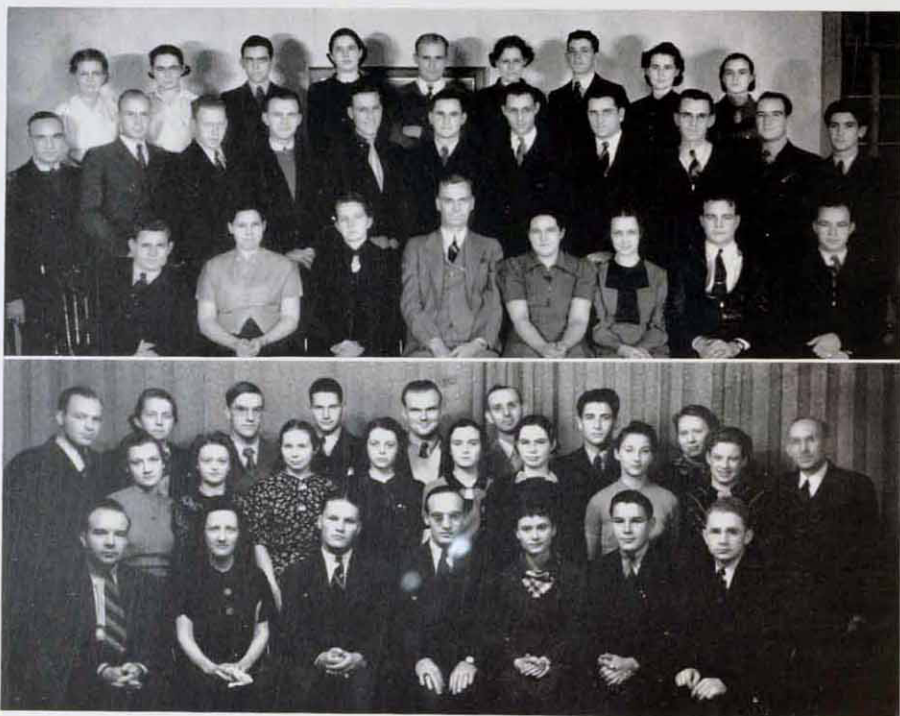

The photographer for the book was Loyd Willison. James R. Tharp, serving as Leader, sports editor and creator of the column "Tiger Tail", wrote the men's sports in his interesting manner.

Among other contributors, Frances Scranton, John Atkins and Eleanor Calvert spent hours of diligent work upon the project.

Finally to Mrs. Sampson and her News laboratory class for valuable help in writing copy, Ed Ekey for wholehearted cooperation in photography; Walter Wallerstedt for experienced counsel; and to the Publications Committee, Mid-Continent Engraving Company and the Carpenter Press for their help, we extend grateful acknowledgement.

The International Relations Club was organized in the spring of 1936. It is one of twenty-two identical clubs in other Kansas colleges and universities.

In their meetings they discuss international problems from every angle, sometimes bringing in outside speakers to give new views on the problems.

Every year a few of the members attend the regional conference of International Relations Clubs. This year the conference was held in Des Moines, Iowa at Drake University.

The Quill Club is composed of the students and a few faculty members, who are interested in writing. Every two weeks the club gives a dinner at Cody Commons; after the dinner, they read their personal manuscripts while the others give criticisms.

The members of this club submit the best of their stories to the "Aerend", which is a school quarterly publishing student manuscripts.

Tiger Club

The Tiger Club works with the Tigerettes in planning pep assemblies, and pep rallies, and between halves, stunts or performances. This year they have sponsored the tumblers, boxing, ping pong, the Cadet Crack Drill Squad, Hays Hi band, A Capella choir, Bob Helman and his Drums, and the Clarinet Trio. The president of the club is Forrest Taylor. Andrew Riegel took over the sponsorship left vacant by the transfer of Richard Niessenk to Salina.

Tigerettes

The fifty members in the Tigerette Club initiate, encourage, and support inter-collegiate athletic events. One highlight this year was sponsoring the selection of King and Queen of Homecoming. Working in cooperation with the Tiger Club and the band, they have sponsored the pep assemblies, pep rallies, and attractions at the halves in football and basketball. Besides boasting college spirit, the Tigerettes make publicity, attract crowds, and provide unequalled entertainment.

PARLIAMENTARY LAW CLUB

 Keating, Gibson, Brooks, Brungardt, Carlile, and Brown.

PI KAPPA DELTA

A highly successful year has been experienced by the local chapter of Pi Kappa Delta, national honorary debate fraternity. Nine events have been competed in and in each they have ranked high.

Competitions entered in by members of this fraternity are as follows: tournament at McPherson; tournament at Hutchinson; Student Legislative Assembly at Topeka at which John Willcoxon was chosen Speaker; Annual Speech Contest at Wichita; debate with Texas Christian University; radio debate at Manhattan; and the National Pi Kappa Delta Debate Tournament at Topeka.

The debate question this year was: Resolved, that the National Labor Relations Board should be empowered to enforce arbitration of all industrial disputes.

PARLIAMENTARY LAW CLUB

The Parliamentary Law Club, under the direction of Mrs. C. H. Brooks, has been making an extensive study of parliamentary law using as their text "Robert's Rules of Order".

In this club permanent officers are elected at the beginning of each semester and temporary officers for the coming meeting are appointed weekly by Mr. Brooks.

The purpose of this organization is to obtain a working knowledge of parliamentary rules and procedure through practice. Officers for the spring semester are: Rex Culley, president; Walter Keating, vice-president; Carl Rohwer, secretary; and Wayne Howell, publicity manager.

Griffith, Huxman, Jackson, Brown, Garten, Reed, Coates, Stebley, Adams, Millet, McMIndes, Landrum, Rose, Jacobs, Bartholomew.

Allan, Batman, Grant, Matthews, Mackey, Bowen, Fleagle, Hiedman, Sire, Williams, Bogart, Coates, Parker, Webbs, Horner, Dawes, Johnson, Beasley, Shaw, Burnett, Garten, Sell, Winkler.

WOMEN'S LEADERSHIP ORGANIZATION

The Women's Leadership Organization is a group of young women on the campus who have been outstanding in leadership. The members of the organization are chosen primarily by the women faculty members. The aim and purpose of the organization is to promote leadership among the women on the campus.

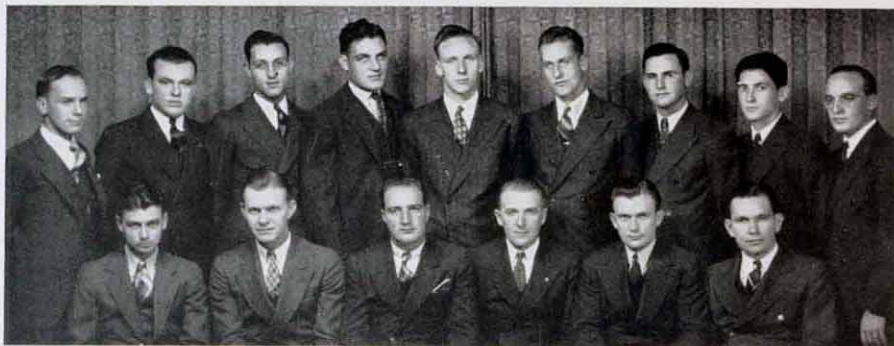

Faculty sponsors for the organization are Miss Geneva Millet, Miss Maude McMIndes, and Mrs. Nita Landrum. Officers of the club are: Faye Garten, president; Betty Brown, vice-president; Izella Jackson, secretary; and Rita Jacobs, treasurer.

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB

The Home Economics Club, sponsored by Miss Margaret Haggert, is composed of twenty-two girls interested in a more intensive study of this field of economics.

One of the outstanding features of the club is the Loan Fund maintained for the benefit of junior and senior girls.

The annual Home Economics Banquet is becoming one of the important Spring events. The speaker of the banquet this spring was the Head of the Colorado Extension Service.

Leas, Kuntz, Branson, Dalton, Carson, Romeiser,
Meckel, Willcoxon, Taylor, Mitchell, McGrath, Thurlow, Rickard, Kershner, Shaw.

Pollock, McGinnis, Royce, Ames, Emmons, Downs,
Baker, Andree, Shepherd, Streeter, Kuntz, Lyons, Riegel, Hanpeter.

Seventh Cavalry

Leaders in their own right, members of Seventh Cavalry, honorary men's organization, strive to make leaders of those younger students who possess the ability to step into the shoes of a "Cavalryman" after he has graduated. Two major projects of Seventh Cavalry this year were the presentation of an "undiscovered talent" assembly and establishment of a semester scholarship for a worthy boy.

Graduate Club

Older and wiser than the rest of us, the graduate students who make up the membership of the Graduate Club, know the value of advanced training and preparation. They are firm in their belief that a "master" is of necessity better equipped to disseminate knowledge and learning than is one who is only a little farther advanced on the ladder of learning than his pupils.

De Forrest, Duncan, Brungardt, Warnock, Wasinger, Hawes, Hamilton, Meckel, Moore, Riedil, Hoersch, Wallace, Gilbert, Mull, Sehnert, Marshall, Andregg, Albertson, Yaggy, Kahler, Rogers, Colyer.

Thompson, Harper, Bayba, Shults, Greiner, Caster, Rutschman, Elkinton, Bennett, Smith, Moon, Dalton, Kaufmann.

Engineer's Club

In 1931 the Engineers broke away from the Professional Club and formed an organization of their own. This year, under the leadership of Vivian Meckel, senior from Medicine Lodge, the Engineers Club has grown into one of the liveliest organizations on the campus.

All types of engineering are studied by the club throughout the year. Some of the men are interested in petroleum, some in civil engineering, and some in electrical engineering. Each division has its share of the weekly programs on their phase of engineering.

The first annual Engineer's Day was held on the campus in the spring. A morning assembly was followed by a banquet in the evening. Dean Donnell, of the engineering school of Oklahoma A. and M., was the principal speaker.

Parliamentary Law Club

When the Professional Club was first organized on our campus it included members from all the professions; today it includes members from all professions with the exception of the engineers.

The aim of the club members is, "to study their profession and things that affect their profession".

Each year the club takes a trip to some metropolitan center and visits laboratories, hospitals and law offices in order that the students can see for themselves the kinds of work for which they are studying.

Religious Organizations

The Young Women's Christian Association, the Young Men's Christian Association and the Newman Club are the three outstanding organizations on the campus interested primarily in maintaining and safe-guarding the religious as well as the social life of the student body. The outstanding single project of the year, sponsored by these groups, was the presentation of the most successful "Religious Emphasis" week in recent years. Bringing an outstanding speaker, the Rev. A. L. Miller of Hutchinson, to the campus, the three organizations found "The Life That Counts Now" an interesting theme for the week's observance. The year found the continuation of the regular meetings of the Newman Club, which was revived the preceding winter, with a series of meetings which brought 20 speakers before the members of the club, an organization for Catholic students. Both the YMCA and YWCA were active throughout the year with various social and religious activities.

Members of Newman club:

The Greeks

In Western Kansas

Not all Greeks are in Greece———On the campus of Fort Hays State are found many of the old eastern civilization. And just as there were famous Greeks then, so are there famous Greeks now. For instance Helen of Troy had nothing over Helen of the Alphas—and as long as there are Phi Mu's and a Fireman's Ball no one need look back to ancient Greece for revelry—the Sig Tau's go in for honors as great as those in olden times when John W. and Jack L. receive their achievement keys—as Greece was famed for great scholars, so the Tri Sigs are also famed for to them went the scholarship award—no ancient Grecian ball ever equalled the Phi Delts fling—and no torture was ever inflicted on suffering Grecian warriors to compare with that endured by the Phi Sig pledges during Hell Week—in Music was Greece much famed and in music do the S. A. I's excel—the beauty of the Grecian maids could never exceed the Theta sirens—nor the grace and charm of the Delta girls—nor could Grecian jesters excel the Reams of the Pi Kappas—to the largest Greek organization on the campus, the Kappa Phi's—as strong in bonds as any Grecian captain and his army—go many honors.

Yes, East came West when the Greeks came to Fort Hays State.

Chippendale
STERLING
by Towle

You'll like Chippendale. You'll like its life, its modern treatment of 18th century design.

You'll probably say "This is the Sterling I want for my own table." Chippendale is inexpensive, too, for Sterling of such fine quality.

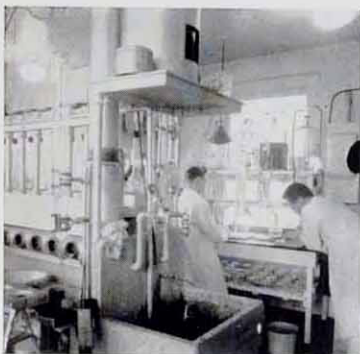

Do come in and let us show you how lovely it is.

DON'S AND MACK'S

MAKE A MEAL AT DON'S

Where regular meals . . . sandwiches, short orders are concocted and served as tasty and as fine as can be found anywhere. There is a plate lunch at noon fit for . . . why, even fit for Jane as finicky as she is and dainty. Don Dennison's is indeed headquarters for hungry folk who like a real meal, real service, and real music.

SNACKS AT MACK'S

At McKee's College Shop John Collegiate and Jane Coed meet and snag a snack of Ice Cream . . . of Candies . . . and while munching their tasty snacks and drinking their thirst quenchers from the soda fountain, they choose their school supplies . . . anything from a tablet to a tome.
